About VCU PREP

The Post-Baccalaureate Research Training Program (PREP) is a one-year biomedical research training program for recent college graduates from underrepresented groups considering graduate-level training in the biomedical sciences.

The program provides scholars with a year-long paid mentored research experience and the opportunity to develop technical and critical-thinking skills. PREP scholars have the opportunity to take graduate-level courses as well as receive formal advice on selection of graduate programs, preparation of graduate school applications, and preparation for graduate school interviews

Who's Eligible?

- Applicants who have graduated within 3 years prior to the start of the program
- Interested in pursuing a PhD or MD/PhD
- Must be US Citizen, permanent resident or non-citizen nationals with proof of status
