

EARTHLAB SUMMER INTERNSHIPS ARE BACK!

Cohort-model

9 weeks

Paid stipend

Apply your passion and skills towards finding equitable climate solutions.

To guide us toward a just future, we need imaginative and resourceful leaders that are skilled in transdisciplinary and applied work, both within the UW and the wider community.

Now in its second year, this internship program offers a paid stipend opportunity for UW undergraduate students to develop professional skills at the intersection of climate change and social justice.

Internships projects will focus on transdisciplinary training and will provide a weekly cohort model of support, mentorship and connection with other students in the program, culminating in a final presentation..

AT A GLANCE:

- Undergraduates at all UW schools & colleges across the tri-campus are eligible
- Virtual info sessions will be held on:
 - March 9, 11:30 - 12:30 pm
 - March 16, 12:30 - 1:30 pm
- Applications are due by 5 p.m. PT on March 24

More info here:

